

LOADBOOT DISPATCH · CARRIER BRIEF

Carrier Fleet Book

The carriers waiting for their dedicated LoadBoot dispatcher — every truck, every preference, every constraint, the age of each authority, and the activation protocol for each carrier in the first four days.

Why these carriers have no loads yet and what they expect from you

The situation

Every carrier in this book completed LoadBoot onboarding between 21 Aug and 5 Sep 2026 and is fully active. No load has yet been booked for any of them. The reason is straightforward and may be stated plainly to the carrier: LoadBoot was appointing a dedicated dispatcher for their account. That appointment is the dispatcher who takes them on.

BEFORE ANYTHING ELSE — CHOOSE YOUR CARRIERS

You are being asked to pick the carriers you want to run. You may take more than one — take only as many as you can genuinely work every day. Reply with the names. Once you confirm, LoadBoot issues the carrier's full details, your LoadBoot e-mail address and your US dispatch number, and adds you to the carrier's WhatsApp group. Nothing in this book is contacted until then.

01 · Munster Logistics	Hotshot · 30 ft gooseneck flatbed · Batavia, OH · regional round trips, no tarp
02 · Warren's Courier	26 ft box truck · dock-high + liftgate · Hinesville, GA · round trips only
03 · Pick N Nett	Hotshot / flatbed · TWIC · Conway, SC · local, regional and OTR
04 · EZHAUL	Hotshot · 40 ft gooseneck · Golden, CO · Southwest, will tarp
05 · Patterson Freight	Box truck · liftgate · Tacoma, WA · local 100 mi — no truck on record yet

Two carriers are waiting and dissatisfied. Justin (Munster Logistics) and Jason Warren (Warren's Courier Agency) both posted their trucks in August and received nothing. They are not hostile; they are sceptical. You do not open with a call. You open with work: real load offers in their WhatsApp group, every day, until they engage. A booked load is the only apology that counts.

ACTIVATION PROTOCOL — TWO TRACKS

TRACK A · WAITING CARRIERS (MUNSTER, WARREN'S)

- Day 1 — post before you speak. Place at least two to three genuine load offers in the carrier's WhatsApp group — rate, miles, RPM, commodity, weight, both appointment windows — matched to the truck and the constraints on their page. A one-line intro accompanies the first offer; no explanation, no apology.
- Days 1–3 — continue daily, regardless of reply. Fresh offers every day. Silence is not refusal; it is a test. Keep the record clean: every offer logged in the portal.
- Day 3 — call. Introduce yourself formally, reference the offers already sent, confirm truck location and availability, and close the first booking.

TRACK B · CARRIERS WITH NO AVAILABILITY POSTED (PICK N NETT, EZHAUL, PATTERSON)

- Day 1 — call first. Confirm that their LoadBoot onboarding is complete and the account is fully active, introduce yourself as the dedicated dispatcher appointed by LoadBoot, confirm the truck and preferences on file, state precisely what is still missing, and present what is available on their lane today.
- Same day — post. Enter the availability in the portal and post the truck.
- Days 2–4 — offers daily; first booking by day 4.

Your trial is judged by the carriers, not by LoadBoot alone. The evidence is action: daily load offers, a truck that is posted, a rate confirmation in the carrier's name. Carriers with a WhatsApp group receive offers in the group. Where no group exists yet, you call the carrier — or the driver the carrier nominates — and present the load by phone, then log it.

Authority age & what you may say

Four of five authorities are under six months plan the broker approach around it

Authority age changes everything

Four of the five authorities are under six months old (FMCSA registration date, re-checked 13 Sep). Many brokers refuse new authorities under 90 days and some under 6–12 months. This — not the carrier, not you — is why the first loads are hard. Plan for it.

CARRIER	AUTHORITY SINCE	AGE ON 21 SEP 2026
Pick N Nett	4 Nov 2025	10½ mo — most brokers OK
EZHAUL	30 May 2026	3½ mo — new
Munster Logistics	17 Jul 2026	2 mo — new
Warren's Courier	14 Jul 2026	2 mo — new
Patterson Freight	29 Jul 2026	1½ mo — new

NEW-AUTHORITY PLAYBOOK

- Lead with brokers and load boards known to work with new MCs; ask up front: “Do you work with authorities under 6 months?” — do not waste a call.
- Have the carrier packet ready before the first call: W-9, COI naming the broker, authority letter, void check / factoring NOA. LoadBoot holds the approved documents in the portal.
- Expect rate pressure. Defend the floor per mile; give on deadhead or timing, not on rate below floor.
- Smaller, regional, repeat-lane brokers say yes to new authorities faster than the top-20 boards. Build three of them per carrier.
- Every clean delivery is a reference. Ask the broker for the next load before the POD is dry.

WHAT YOU MAY AND MAY NOT SAY TO A CARRIER

Say: “LoadBoot was setting up your dedicated dispatcher — that’s me, and from today your truck has one person on it.” · “Your authority is X months old; here is how we get around that.” · “Here is what the market is paying on your lane right now.”

Never say: how many carriers LoadBoot has, who else you dispatch for, anything about LoadBoot’s people, fees, finances or internal process, or any other carrier’s truck, rates or loads. If asked: “I can only speak for your account — LoadBoot operations can answer that.”

One more rule. Nothing in this book — carrier names, equipment, rates, weaknesses — leaves LoadBoot. It is issued to you alone and stays confidential during and after the engagement.

First contact — the scripts

Track B activation call · Track A first message enterprise tone, no apology, action first

TRACK B · ACTIVATION CALL (PICK N NETT, EZHAUL, PATTERSON)

Open: “Good morning, [first name]. This is [your name] with LoadBoot Dispatch. I’m calling to confirm that your LoadBoot onboarding is complete and your account is fully active, and to introduce myself: LoadBoot has appointed me as your dedicated dispatcher, effective today.”

Establish command of the account: “I have your truck on file — [equipment, length, payload, base] — together with your rate floor, lanes, home-time and the facilities you prefer to avoid. Before I post the truck I need to confirm three things: where the unit is empty right now, when it is next available, and [the specific blanks listed on their page].”

Bring the market: “On your lane today I am seeing [two or three genuine loads: origin → destination, miles, rate, RPM]. I will send these to the group as soon as we finish, and I will keep sending options daily.”

Close: “LoadBoot operations will open a WhatsApp group today — you, me and LoadBoot ops. Every offer, rate confirmation and check-call will be there and on your LoadBoot dashboard for one-tap confirmation. Nothing moves without your approval.”

TRACK A · FIRST MESSAGE IN THE GROUP (MUNSTER, WARREN’S) — NO CALL YET

“Good morning, [first name] — [your name], LoadBoot Dispatch, your dedicated dispatcher from today. Three options for the [truck] out of [base] this week:

1. [origin] → [destination] · [miles] mi · $[rate] · $[RPM]/mi · [commodity, weight] · pickup [window] · delivery [window]
2. ...
3. ...

Reply with a number and I will lock it in and send the rate confirmation for your approval. More options tomorrow morning.”

Day 3 call: “I’ve sent you [n] options over the last three days — I wanted to introduce myself properly and confirm where the truck is empty and when it is next free, so the next offer is one you can take.”

NEVER IN A FIRST MESSAGE

- An apology for August, or any explanation of LoadBoot’s internal delay beyond the one line in this book.
- A rate you do not have in writing from a broker.
- A promise of a load, volume or a weekly figure.
- Your personal phone number — contact is your LoadBoot number and the group only.

Rules, rhythm & check-calls

How every day runs from first contact to POD

RULES OF CONTACT

- Always “[name] from LoadBoot Dispatch”. Never your own name alone, never another company.
- Only from your approved US number (WhatsApp Business). LoadBoot operations adds you to each carrier’s WhatsApp group; that is where the carrier’s number reaches you.
- Track B carriers (Pick N Nett, EZHAUL, Patterson): call first. Text “Good time for 5 minutes?” if it rings out; owner-operators are often driving. Track A carriers (Munster, Warren’s): offers in the group first, call on day 3.
- Best windows: 08:00–11:00 and 14:00–17:00 carrier local time (OH / GA / SC = Eastern, CO = Mountain, WA = Pacific).
- Every call gets a one-line note on the carrier record in the portal within 30 minutes.
- Never quote a rate you do not have in writing from a broker. Never promise a load.

CHECK-CALL CADENCE ONCE A LOAD IS BOOKED

Evening before	Driver confirmed, ETA to shipper, appointment, special instructions
At pickup	Arrived / loaded times, piece count, BOL photo
In transit	Daily before 10:00 ET: location, miles left, ETA; instantly on any delay
At delivery	Arrived / unloaded, signed POD photo within 30 min, detention times
After	POD + RC in portal, load marked delivered, next availability posted

WHAT TO COLLECT ON THE FIRST CALL

- Exact empty location (city + ZIP) and next available date/time.
- Who drives, and whether the owner also drives. Driver’s hours pattern.
- Anything blank in this book marked NULL — get it, put it in the portal truck record.
- Factoring company (if any) and whether the NOA is current.
- Which load boards the carrier already watches — so you do not post against them.
- Commodities they will not haul; facilities they will not go back to.

DAILY OPERATING RHYTHM (US EASTERN)

07:00–08:00	Driver locations, hours, loads in transit, today’s appointments; scan boards and lane rates
08:00–11:00	Prime booking window — post trucks, call brokers, negotiate, send offers to every carrier group
11:00–13:00	Confirm bookings, verify RCs, send driver instructions, update the portal
13:00–15:00	Problems: delays, detention, reschedules; broker updates
15:00–18:00	Plan reloads near tomorrow’s deliveries; pre-book; post next-day availability
After hours	On call while any truck you booked is under load

Tarp constraint (Justin, 22 Aug): carries tarps but would rather not tarp. Tarp loads only as a last resort, only if the rate clearly pays for it, and only after asking him. Small/single pieces OK; no full-deck tarp jobs.

WHERE TO START · TRACK A — POST FIRST, CALL ON DAY 3

1. Do not call first.

Day 1: place two to three genuine offers in the Munster WhatsApp group with a one-line introduction. Repeat daily for three days whether or not he replies.

2. Day 3: call.

Introduce yourself formally, reference the offers sent, ask where the truck is empty right now (the record says "empty", no location) and when it is next free.

3. Post today:

hotshot flatbed, 30 ft, 9,000 lb, Batavia OH, 200 mi, $1.80 floor, no tarp. Target regional building materials, equipment, pallets — untarped.

4. Round-trip or short-loop loads (Cincinnati / Columbus / Dayton / Louisville / Lexington / Indianapolis) keep him home weekends — his first priority. Book one at or above $1.80 by day 4.

Last known plan (28 Aug): pick up the rental in Jacksonville FL Sat 29 Aug, best-paying loads out of Jacksonville, work back toward Savannah, home by Thu 3 Sep (driver's wedding Fri 4 Sep). Anything after that is unknown — no login since 22 Aug. Six truck postings are paused (they were for the retired Ford).

Never dispatch the old 16 ft Ford E-350. Removed from the policy 28 Aug — uninsured. The Hino is the only insured unit.

WHERE TO START · TRACK A — POST FIRST, CALL ON DAY 3

- Do not call first. Day 1: two to three genuine round-trip box-truck offers in the Warren's WhatsApp group, daily for three days. Day 3: call.
- First question on that call, before anything else: "Is the Hino still with you, or did it go back to Enterprise?" If it went back, ask what truck he is running now and rebuild the record — do not post a truck that does not exist.
- Round trips only + $2.10 floor + dock-high liftgate = LTL / partial / final-mile box freight around Savannah, Jacksonville, Atlanta, Charleston. Sell the liftgate and pallet jack to brokers — that is the premium.
- Get him on DAT/Truckstop through LoadBoot's posting so brokers can find the truck.
- Book one clean round trip in 4 days; that is the whole pitch.

This is the flatbed-minded carrier in the book: tarps, chains, TWIC (port access — Charleston, Savannah, Wilmington), willing to run OTR for two weeks, and a 10-month authority most brokers accept. Once the trailer length and tow vehicle are on record, it is the easiest hotshot here to keep moving.

WHERE TO START · TRACK B — CALL FIRST

1. Activation call: confirm the account is fully active, introduce yourself as the appointed dedicated dispatcher, and present what is moving on I-95 / I-26 flatbed lanes today.

2. Get the missing specs on call one: trailer length, deck height, tow vehicle, GVWR, who drives, empty location. Nothing can be posted honestly without them.

3. Ask about the broker authority — is it used? It changes how you position LoadBoot (you are their dispatcher, not a competitor).

4. Post as hotshot/flatbed with TWIC out of Conway SC; port and steel/lumber freight along I-95 / I-26 / I-20 pays for the TWIC.

5. Two-week runs are fine — plan a loop out and back rather than single legs.

6. First load at/above $2.00 within 4 days.

Denver-based 40 ft hotshot with tarps that will tarp and will run long: good fit for Colorado ↔ Texas / Arizona / New Mexico / Utah building-material and equipment lanes. Authority is 3½ months — use the new-authority playbook.

Weight check before the first heavy load: a Class 2H pickup with a 40 ft gooseneck carrying ~10,000 lb is close to the 26,001 lb combined non-CDL line. Confirm truck GVWR, trailer GVWR and whether the driver holds a CDL before booking steel, lumber or equipment.

- WHERE TO START · TRACK B — CALL FIRST
1. Activation call: confirm the account is fully active, introduce yourself as the appointed dispatcher, present today's Denver-outbound hotshot loads.

2. First call: owner's name, who drives, CDL yes/no, real floor rate, empty location. Correct the $1.00 in the portal immediately.

3. Post 40 ft gooseneck hotshot, Golden CO, Southwest, tarps available, 9,999 lb.

4. Lead with brokers that take authorities under 6 months; have the packet ready.

5. Sell the tarp and the 40 ft deck — that is the premium over a 30 ft hotshot.

6. One load out of Denver by day 3, reload home by day 5.

WHERE TO START · TRACK B — CALL FIRST (DATA CALL)

1. Activation call: confirm the account is fully active and introduce yourself as the appointed dedicated dispatcher — then explain that the truck record is empty and walk through it together.

2. This carrier cannot be posted yet — there is no truck in the portal. Call one is a data call: unit(s), year/make, box length, payload, liftgate, dock-high, pallet jack, who drives, floor rate, empty location.

3. Enter it in the portal truck record the same hour, then post.

4. Local Seattle–Tacoma–Olympia box freight, LTL and final-mile with liftgate is the lane. New authority (6 weeks) — use the playbook.

ORDER OF WORK, DAY 1

- Track A first, by 09:00 ET. Munster and Warren's have been waiting since August — their offers go into the group before you do anything else.
- Track B calls, 09:00–12:00 ET. Pick N Nett, then EZHAUL, then Patterson — hardest data gap last, when you have found your rhythm.
- Portal entry the same hour as each call. A fact in your notebook and not in the portal does not exist.
- Post every truck you have specs for before the day ends.

WHAT DAY 4 SHOULD LOOK LIKE

Every carrier called or messaged, every WhatsApp group live, every NULL on these pages filled in the portal, every truck with specs posted, offers shown daily to all five, and at least one load booked at or above the carrier's floor.

If a carrier does not respond — keep posting the truck and keep sending offers daily, and tell LoadBoot operations on day 3. Silence from a carrier is not a reason to stop working the account; it is a reason to make the next offer better.
